

TRACEY CONWAY – Introduction

Now it is my pleasure to introduce our guest speaker...

Though many of us have experienced ups and downs in our personal relationships, most women would not welcome the nickname “Worst Girlfriend In The World, ...” however, our speaker this morning / afternoon / evening is actually quite fond of it.

Actress Tracey Conway spent the 90’s making people laugh, as a cast member and writer on the sketch-comedy television series “Almost Live!*” In addition to playing the “Worst Girlfriend in the World” -- which earned her an Emmy award -- Tracey has played a variety of characters, both fictional and real, including Olympics ice skater Nancy Kerrigan, talk-radio advisor Dr. Laura, and a well-known former Governor of Alaska. Let’s watch a few of Tracey’s favorite comic roles.

(Pause for VIDEO MONTAGE OF CHARACTERS -- 3 MINUTES long.

When video ends, please continue, with paragraph directly below...)

Tracey joins us today / tonight to share her story of surviving more than the perils of Show Biz. As she knows, only too well, being a “Drama Queen” has advantages, but being “Drop Dead Gorgeous” is down-right dangerous!

Please join me in welcoming Tracey Conway...

\ NOTE: the name of the television series, Almost Live! is similar to the long-running, NBC late-night series Saturday Night Live. The word LIVE has a long I (eye) vowel.*